Lugares de escritura: el monasterio Ramón Baldaquí Escadell, 2016-04-04 En este libro se analizan los múltiples y variados aspectos en los que las instituciones monásticas y conventuales actúan como creadoras de objetos escritos, custodios de la memoria escrita y receptáculos de escrituras en los soportes más variados: inscripciones, libros, documentos y monedas, pinturas y esculturas, orfebrería y objetos de arte y de culto. Y ello con las finalidades más variadas: preservación de la memoria y de los derechos y propiedades, celebración de los bienhechores y de la propia institución, enseñanza de la escritura y, como finalidad primordial, divulgación del mensaje cristiano entre los fieles.

Gardens in Northern Iberia in the Early Middle Ages Wendy Davies, 2024-11-21 Using archaeological, archaeobotanical, and written evidence, this book explores what gardens meant in northern Spain and northern Portugal in the early middle ages - a question asked here for the first time. Dealing with a vast area of the Iberian peninsula that lay beyond Muslim al-Andalus, with great geographical diversity and wide variation in climate, this book spans the sixth to tenth centuries, showing that gardens might lie beside houses or scattered among arable fields or grouped together in garden zones. Gardens are difficult to recognize archaeologically but excavation suggests that many were terraces, as it also suggests that indicators of intensive use - through fertilization or irrigation or characteristic weed species - may be more useful for identifying garden activity than looking for a distinctive shape. The strongest indications of garden produce are that fruit was always important and so were legumes; and some gardens, especially those owned by monasteries, may have grown herbs. The most striking trend across the tenth century is that peasants sold gardens to monasteries, although there are regional differences, Catalonia having a more diverse land market. Peasants sold in order to get food and monasteries bought partly to provide garden produce, including herbs, for expanding communities but partly to use and increase garden space for textile plants--flax, hemp, and dye plants--for commercial reasons, especially urban supply. Gardens were vital for the supply of clothes. By scrutinising the logistics of small- and medium-scale ownership, the relations of owners with large-scale land-holders, especially institutions, and the ins-and-outs of those economic and social interactions, this wide-ranging book adds a new dimension to the environmental history of western Europe, in addition to contributing to an understanding of the social, economic, and cultural history of the period more generally.
