Clemens Wendtner

"you are arrived" vs "you have arrived" | WordReference Forums Nov 1, 2010 · I'd like to know the right meaning difference between these two sentences: "you are arrived" "you have arrived" Thanks arrive at home/arrive home? | WordReference Forums Jun 21, 2008 · But "arrived at my home" is used in the headline in this British newspaper ("Strangers arrived at my home wanting sex): 'Strangers arrived at my home wanting sex - I nearly threw up when I learnt why' I heard the Mirror is a subpar newspaper, maybe that's why? Ah, no. arrive: IN a city or AT a city - WordReference Forums Apr 1, 2013 · 2." arrived at if the city was one of several staging posts on my journey, particularly if I was in a train or some form of public transport." Actually, I have read many times when the writer used "arrived at" a city and from the context, the person in question was at the airport. to arrive at/for/to work - WordReference Forums Apr 12, 2016 · Hi, In my Business English workbook it's said that we say "to arrive at work", but then there is this sentence: "I always arrive on time FOR work". Are they both correct? And can we say "to arrive to work"? Thanks! just in time or just on time - WordReference Forums Nov 25, 2010 · And the word just is not used with the expression. I beg to differ. One might often see "just on time" or "exactly on time" in AmE usage; and "on time" is not restricted to transportation, e.g. "We arrived on time for the movie's start"; and in that sentence "just on time" or "exactly on time" would be fine as well. on the scene/at the scene - WordReference Forums Sep 20, 2016 · Sir and madam. Would someone tell me what is the different between them? Here is an example It was not long before a helicopter arrived 'on/at' the scene to rescue the survivors of the plane crash. My sentence is quote from 'New Concept English - Book 2', by WONG Nam and published by Longman in... I arrive vs I am arriving vs I will arrive vs I will be arriving May 3, 2017 · These existing thread should help you will arrive / arrived / arrives in this structure. will arrive/ will be arriving will arrive/will be arriving I'm arriving Is arriving vs will arrive North Korean leader arrives /arriving / to arrive in Russia Thank you for that. arrived the bus - WordReference Forums Mar 30, 2012 · I searched on the dictionary and found different forms of this sentence... what is definitely correct or the difference between them I arrived on the bus I arrived in the bus I arrived by bus Thank you Regards It (has) arrived today - WordReference Forums May 30, 2014 · I agree; with "today" specified, the simple past tense is right. Without "today", the present perfect would be preferred. "It has arrived" would simply confirm the recent arrival (possibly today, possibly some time within the past few days). EN: has/is arrived - WordReference Forums May 13, 2007 · In English, the past simple is

"the man came". So the question is then why do we say "The clothing has arrived" rather than "the clothing arrived" (the man came)? Because we are interested in the present result of a past action - the clothing is here now, and that is what we are interested in. It has arrived = it is here.
