Traditional Values and Local Community in the Formal Educational System in Senegal Maguette Diame, 2023-12-18 This book explores the discourse of traditional values and local practices within the formal educational system in Senegal, investigating how these cultural elements are present in the daily life of the community and integrated into formal schools and teaching. Studying the integration of concepts such as Jom (hard work, pride, dignity), Kersa (decency), Fule (self-respect), Mun (endurance), Teranga (hospitality), Kal (kinship), and Suture (Protection), it looks at how values are used, perceived and understood within communities, as well as their positive and negative connotations in the postcolonial context. Based on long-term participant education and utilizing a critical auto-ethnography lens, it ultimately proposes that such concepts can be used to counterbalance the Western knowledge to which schoolchildren are mostly exposed, connecting this to Bhaba's system of the "Third Space"; a hybrid system to accommodate both educational systems for more relevant education. An informed study of the positive impacts of traditional cultural values on education in Senegal, it will appeal to scholars, researchers and practitioners of education in post-colonial Francophone countries with interests in culturally relevant education, African education, post-colonial education, and international education.

Cities around the World Jing Luo, 2019-07-10 This two-volume set offers a comprehensive overview of major challenges faced by cities worldwide in the 21st century, and how cities in different geographic, economic, and political conditions are finding solutions to them. This two-volume encyclopedia examines ten critical issues that face cities across the globe today—environmental and societal struggles that affect the daily lives of city dwellers. Readers will gain a better understanding of our global neighbors and will be able to use this book in order to compare and contrast different approaches to critical issues in our world. Volume One examines employment and jobs; energy and sustainability; green spaces; housing and infrastructure; and migration and demographic changes. Volume Two discusses pollution; schools; traffic and transportation; violence, corruption, and organized crime; and waste management. Each issue begins with an introduction providing an overview of the issue from a global perspective. Following the introduction are ten alphabetically arranged world city profiles of cities that are struggling with the issue and cities that have found innovative solutions to deal with the crisis. The profiles explain how the problem came to be; consequences inhabitants face, such as compromised health, limited access to education, and high taxes with low wages; and failed and successful initiatives taken by city management.

Introduction to Senegal Gilad James, PhD, Senegal is a country located in West Africa and is known for its vibrant culture and French colonial heritage. Its capital city is Dakar, located on the Cape Verde peninsula, and its official language is French, but Wolof is widely spoken throughout the country. The country has a rich history dating back to the 7th century, and it was a major center of the transatlantic slave trade. Senegal gained independence from France in 1960, and since then, it has been a democratic country, with multiparty politics and a diverse economy. The country has a population of over 17 million people, and it is one of the most stable countries in the region. Senegal has a diverse landscape, ranging from sandy beaches to fertile river valleys and arid deserts. The country is known for its music, dance, and art, with traditional music such as mbalax and African reggae being popular around the world. Senegal is also known for its cuisine, which includes seafood, stews, and rice dishes. Religion plays a significant role in Senegalese culture, with a majority of the population practicing Islam, but other religions such as Catholicism and Vodou are also present. The country has a rich cultural heritage, and it is home to many museums and historic sites that highlight its history and traditions. Senegal is a vibrant and dynamic country, with a unique cultural identity and a bright future.

Urban Displacement and Trade in a Senegalese Market Gunvor Jónsson, 2024-03-07 The Malian market at the railway terminus in Dakar was bulldozed in 2009 and, following privatisation of the railway, passenger services in Senegal soon ceased altogether. The consequences were felt especially by women traders who had travelled the line since its inauguration, making the terminus in Dakar the centre of a thriving network of traders and migrants. To examine the fates of those whose livelihoods were destroyed or disrupted, Gunvor Jónsson spent a year with the women evicted from the terminus. Urban Displacement and Trade in a Senegalese Market explores what happens at 'the end' of urban displacement, when it is all over, so to speak – when the dust has settled and people find themselves scattered in sometimes unfamiliar surroundings, trying to pick up the pieces and create something meaningful. This book argues that rupture and ensuing displacement do not produce a clean slate where identities, networks and histories must be produced from scratch. Traders and their markets do not simply vanish into thin air when they are evicted. The book examines not only what is lost but what emerges when a dense node, such as the terminus, is dissolved and fragmented. The ethnography of the traders reveals that the aftermath of eviction in cities may lead to diasporic forms of consciousness and identity formations. Displacement, whether on a local or global scale, demands difficult adjustments and people's capacities to adapt to new circumstances and environments vary. This book uncovers some of these different capacities and variations in traders' reactions to displacement. Praise for Urban Displacement and Trade in a Senegalese Market 'Jónsson's book is a masterful study of the aftermath of displacement in a major African city. Through deep ethnographic engagement, the book shows how displacement is about more than leaving a place; it is also about how people rebuild livelihoods, and how the space left behind continues to haunt their imagination of a meaningful life.' Héléne Neveu Kringelbach, UCL 'This book is an inspiring tribute to the Malian women traders of Senegal. 'Emptied out' from their old market stalls by a vainglorious development scheme, they bravely regrouped to recover their livelihoods and protect their families. Gunvor Jónsson challenges the idea that displacement only involves refugees. Instead, she creatively marries studies of migration and urbanization, providing fresh insights to both fields.' Robin Cohen, University of Oxford

Sustainable Waste Management in Senegal Satyanarayana Narra,Khalifa Ababacar Sarr,Cheikh Mouhamed Fadel Fall,2025-08-23 Transforming Waste Management in Senegal: Strategies for a Sustainable Future Senegal faces a critical challenge in waste management, with 3.1 million tons of municipal solid waste (MSW) generated annually—45% of which remains uncollected. Addressing this issue requires a strategic, multi-divisional approach to waste minimization, collection, treatment, and sustainable disposal. This book provides a comprehensive roadmap for improving Senegal's waste management sector. It examines the current organizational structure, explores technical solutions, and outlines innovative strategies for closing collection gaps, optimizing transportation, establishing centralized treatment facilities, and integrating digital solutions. Additionally, it emphasizes awareness campaigns, funding mechanisms, and policy enhancements to drive long-term impact. By offering data-driven insights and practical strategies, this guide supports policymakers, urban planners, and waste management professionals in making informed decisions to reduce landfill stress, promote circular economy practices, and pave the way for a cleaner, more sustainable Senegal.

African Interventions Emizet F. Kisangani,Jeffrey Pickering,2021-11-11 Foreign military intervention has had a profound impact on post-colonial African history and politics. Interventions have destabilized borderlands, overthrown governments, and taken a devastating toll on populations. Emizet F. Kisangani and Jeffrey Pickering advance a new theoretical framework and combine quantitative, qualitative, and historical methods to shed fresh light on these important but understudied events. Their detailed analysis brings understanding to supportive and hostile interventions and to interventions by former colonial states, non-colonial foreign actors, and African countries. Kisangani and Pickering also analyse military incursions into ungoverned territories and lands engulfed in civil war. Showcasing a variety of examples from the Second Congo War to the Ethiopian-Eritrean conflict, the book offers a rich and accessible examination of military intervention on the continent.

Surviving the International War Zone Robert R. Rail,2010-10-27 Few people are better able to describe how to survive in a war zone than those who have seen, experienced, and lived it firsthand. Presenting accounts written by military and police officers, this book offers an inside look at the lives of the officers and the local people living in the war zone environment. Covering many facets of daily life, the book examines topics such as surviving extreme temperatures and staying healthy, interacting with the indigenous population and cultural awareness, adjusting to the challenges of limited technology and resources, and protecting oneself from the imminent threat of violence that is present in all war-torn regions.
