The Study Andrew Hui,Associate Professor of Humanities (Literature) Andrew Hui,2024-12-03 With the advent of the printing press in Europe, the possibility of assembling a personal library became more and more attainable for the cultural elite. In this book, Andrew Hui traces the historical development of the studiolo, a personal study and library, from Petrarch to Montaigne, considering literary representations of the studiolo in Rabelais, Cervantes, Shakespeare, and Marlowe as well as its presence in the visual arts. He explores the ways in which Renaissance writers and scholars engaged with these personal libraries, both real and imaginary, as places for research and refuge, and the impact of their legacy on writers of our own age, such as Jorge Luis Borges and Italo Calvino. Hui is interested in how these workspaces shaped the interior lives of their occupants, and how the bookish sanctuary they offered was cast as both a remedy and a poison for the soul. Painters of the period, for example, depicted such Biblical figures as the Virgin Mary and St. Jerome in studies surrounded by books, and some writers extolled the studiolo as a space for salutary self-reflection. But other writers suggested that too much time spent reading and amassing books could lead to bibliomania: it drove Don Quixote to madness, Faustus to perdition, Prospero to exile. Individual chapters focus on the invention of the studiolo as seen through Federico da Montefeltro's Gubbio Studiolo and Raphael's School of Athens; Rabelais's parodies of erudition and classification; the transformation of private study into self-conscious spectacle in The Tempest; and more. While primarily drawing on works from Renaissance Europe, the chapters range across time and geography, incorporating a more global and comparative approach by drawing on texts from the classical tradition of China. Throughout the book, Hui weaves in accounts of his own life with books and libraries, arguing that to study the history of reading, scholars must also become aware of their own history of readings--

The Renaissance Nude Thomas Kren,Jill Burke,Stephen J. Campbell,2018-11-20 A gloriously illustrated examination of the origins and development of the nude as an artistic subject in Renaissance Europe Reflecting an era when Europe looked to both the classical past and a global future, this volume explores the emergence and acceptance of the nude as an artistic subject. It engages with the numerous and complex connotations of the human body in more than 250 artworks by the greatest masters of the Renaissance. Paintings, sculptures, prints, drawings, illuminated manuscripts, and book illustrations reveal private, sometimes shocking, preoccupations as well as surprising public beliefs—the Age of Humanism from an entirely new perspective. This book presents works by Albrecht Dürer, Lucas Cranach, and Martin Schongauer in the north and Donatello, Raphael, and Giorgione in the south; it also introduces names that deserve to be known better. A publication this rich in scholarship could only be produced by a variety of expert scholars; the sixteen contributors are preeminent in their fields and wide-ranging in their knowledge and curiosity. The structure of the volume—essays alternating with shorter texts on individual artworks—permits studies both broad and granular. From the religious to the magical and the poetic to the erotic, encompassing male and female, infancy, youth, and old age, The Renaissance Nude examines in a profound way what it is to be human.

Albrecht Dürer's material world Edward H. Wouk,Jennifer Spinks,2024-04-30 The painter and printmaker Albrecht Dürer is one of the most important figures of the German Renaissance. This book accompanies the first major exhibition of the Whitworth art gallery's outstanding Dürer collection in over half a century. It offers a new perspective on Dürer as an intense observer of the worlds of manufacture, design and trade that fill his graphic art. Artworks and artefacts examined here expose understudied aspects of Dürer's art and practice, including his attentive examination of objects of daily domestic use, his involvement in economies of local manufacture and exchange, the microarchitectures of local craft and, finally, his attention to cultures of natural and philosophical inquiry and learning.

Mise-en-abîme sistema wunderkammer Gundula Rakowitz,2021-12-21 Coniugare i temi mise-en-abîme e Wunderkammer è assunta come sfida teorica e pratica. Da un lato la “messa in abisso” moltiplica una sequenza di eventi e individua come significativo un evento che riproduca su scala ridotta l’intera sequenza, dall’altro nei cabinet de curiosités si raccolgono risonanze e rispecchiamenti prodotti dalla magia artificialis nei quali ri-lucono i principi da cui traggono vita. Nelle Wunderkammern si ritrovano, “obbedienti a un ordine paradossale”, frammenti del passato e del presente, in una compresenza parlante di contemporaneità e non contemporaneità. Wunderkammern, architetture mnemotecniche e cosmogoniche possono essere considerate manifestazioni della volontà di costruire-immaginare luoghi sistematici della conoscenza. In definitiva, il sistema Wunderkammer è un dispositivo di lettura di un intero territorio capace, applicato su scala territoriale, di superare la limitata dimensione della Kammer aprendosi al palcoscenico del meraviglioso, considerato qui nell’arcipelago dell’Alto Vicentino nella cui stratigrafia complessa si disegnano intrecci di narrazioni multiple di storie dentro storie, meraviglie dentro meraviglie, in un sistema di rimandi dalla grande scala territoriale al sito puntuale e viceversa.
