Ovid on Cosmetics Marguerite Johnson, 2016-01-28 The Medicamina Faciei Femineae is a didactic elegy that showcases an early example of Ovid's trademark combination of poetic instruction and trivial subject matter. Exploring female beauty and cosmeceuticals, with particular emphasis on the concept of cultus, the poem presents five practical recipes for treatments for Roman women. Covering both didactic parody and pharmacological reality, this deceptively complex poem possesses wit and vivacity and provides an important insight into Roman social mores and day-to-day activities. The first full study in English devoted to this little-researched but multi-faceted poem, Ovid on Cosmetics includes an introduction that situates the poem within its literary heritage of didactic and elegiac poetry, its place in Ovid's oeuvre and its relevance to social values, personal aesthetics and attitudes to female beauty in Roman society. The Latin text is presented on parallel pages alongside a new translation, and all Latin words and phrases are translated for the non-specialist reader. Detailed commentary notes elucidate the text and individual phrases still further. Ovid on Cosmetics presents and explicates this witty, subversive yet significant poem. Its attention to the technicalities of cosmeceuticals and cosmetics, including detailed analyses of individual ingredients and the effects of specific creams and makeup, make this work a significant contribution to the beauty industry in antiquity.

Brave British soldiers and the Victoria Cross Various,2022-06-03 In 'Brave British Soldiers and the Victoria Cross,' various authors compile an anthology of valorous deeds achieved by Britain's military servicemen honored with the Victoria Cross. This book serves not only as a historical account but also as a mosaic of gallantry narratives woven together in a literary tapestry that underscores the continuum between youthful bravery and the resolve needed in the fullness of manhood. The literary execution is poignant, capturing the idiosyncrasies of martial sacrifice with a narrative style that conveys the profound respect deserved by those who acted beyond the call of duty within the rich context of military history and honor. The contributing authors, led and curated by Samuel Orchart Beeton, imbue the work with experiences and perspectives forged from diverse backgrounds. Their collective endeavor is influenced by a shared vision of valor and an understanding of the profound impact recognition such as the Victoria Cross can have on individual lives and national spirit. Beeton's role in synthesizing these accounts reflects a deep commitment to upholding the virtues of courage and steadfastness, both as a testament to the past and as an immortal beacon for future generations. 'Read Brave British Soldiers and the Victoria Cross' is an encouragement, an invitation to every citizen to ponder the gravity and glory of the devotion to one's nation. It serves as an exemplar for the values of bravery and loyalty that extend far beyond geographic confines. For scholars, history enthusiasts, and patriots alike, this compendium of courage is not only a reminder of the price of freedom but also a source of inspiration, instilling a sense of pride in the shared legacy of national heroes.

Narrative of the Campaigns of the 28th Regiment Major Charles Cadell,2012-05-01 The North Gloucestershire, or 28th Regiment of Foot, had a long and honourable list of successes during the Napoleonic Wars: they were engaged at Coruña, Talavera, Albuera, Vittoria, the Pyrenees, the Nive and the Nivelle, and were conspicuous during the Waterloo Campaign at both Quatre Bras and the era-defining battle. Captain Cadell (as he was at that time) served throughout the period, and his memoirs are filled with the hard engagements with the enemy. He commanded the company of grenadiers of the 1st battalion and was at the cutting edge of all the fighting. His writing style is lucid, filled with memorable anecdotes of the action, and often asides about the men under his command. An excellent memoir of a hard-fighting regimental officer. Author — Major Charles Cadell (1786-1866)
