All the Light There Is Anise Eden,2017-09-12 The finale to the Healing Edge series that began with All the Broken Places, recipient of the 2016 Paranormal Romance Guild Reviewer's Choice Award. Psychotherapist Cate Duncan is done with danger. Her training at the MacGregor Group's parapsychology clinic has brought one crisis after another. So when Skeet, her research colleague, offers Cate and her boss-turned-boyfriend Ben a working vacation at his secluded hunting lodge, they jump at the chance. But the idyllic Mercier Lodge is teeming with secrets: Skeet's unorthodox research methods, a tragic death that occurred at the lodge over a year ago, and its connection to Cate's past. As they delve into Mercier's unsavory history, Ben and Cate stick close together, trusting in their love for each other to keep them safe. But when a scheme separates them, Cate must rely on the MacGregor Group's paranormal abilities, some surprise allies, and her own determination to track Ben down and crack Mercier's mysteries before the strange place claims any more victims. Summary of All the Light We Cannot See by Anthony Doerr Peter Cuomo, 2024-02-07 A complete chapter-by-chapter summary of Anthony Doerr's book All the Light We Cannot See. About the original book: All the Light We Cannot See is a 2014 historical novel by Anthony Doerr. It tells the story of a blind French girl, Marie-Laure LeBlanc, and a German boy, Werner Pfennig, whose paths collide in occupied France as both try to survive the devastation of World War II. Marie-Laure is the daughter of a locksmith who works at the Museum of Natural History in Paris. She goes blind at the age of six, but her father helps her to adapt to her new reality by building her a scale model of their neighborhood and teaching her to read Braille. When the Germans invade Paris, Marie-Laure and her father flee to Saint-Malo, a walled city on the coast of Brittany. Werner is a gifted radio engineer who is conscripted into the German army. He is sent to Saint-Malo to help track down Allied radio transmissions. Werner is initially enthusiastic about his work, but he soon becomes disillusioned with the war and the Nazis. The two characters' paths cross when Werner intercepts a radio transmission from Marie-Laure's father. Werner can track down Marie-Laure and her father, but he decides to help them instead of turning them in. The novel ends with the liberation of Saint-Malo by the Allies. Marie-Laure and Werner are both alive, but they have been deeply scarred by the war. All the Light We Cannot See is a powerful and moving story about the resilience of the human spirit in the face of adversity. It is a reminder that even in the darkest of times, there is always hope.

Nature and Imagination in Ancient and Early Modern Roman Art Gabriel Pihás, 2022-07-27 This volume uses the art of Rome to help us understand the radical historical break between the fundamental ancient pre-supposition that there is a natural world or cosmos situating human life, and the equally fundamental modern emphasis on human imagination and its creative power. Rome's unique art history reveals a different side of the battle between ancients and moderns than that usually raised as an issue in the history of science and philosophy. The book traces the idea of a cosmos in pre-modern art in Rome, from the reception of Greek art in the Roman republic to the construction of the Pantheon, to early Christian art and architecture. It then sketches the disappearance of the presupposition of a cosmos in the High Renaissance and Baroque periods, as creativity became a new ideal. Through discussions of the art and architecture that defines proto-modern Rome—from Michelangelo's terribilità in the Sistine Chapel, Caravaggio's realism, Baroque illusionism, the infinities of Borromini's architecture, to the Grand Tour's representations of ruins—through an interpretation of such major issues and works, this book shows how modern art liberates us while leaving us feeling estranged from our grounding in the natural world. The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history, architectural history, classics, philosophy, and early modern history and culture.

Life's Like That Jerry McKee Bullock, 2012-11-29 Lifes Like That was born when I was having trouble getting clients at the Family Counseling Center. That is a fancy name that came from my family counseling career. I thought I needed to get some ads in the local newspaper. That led to my meeting Mr Rowe Ray, the managing editor of the San Marcos Daily Record. I simply wanted to explore possibilities but ended with an invitation to write a weekly column for the newspaper. I can honestly say I never broke my word on confidentiality; i.e., everything we talked about stayed in the Center, everything that is except the funny things. I was counseling with a game warden that told me about a lady who was losing a sheep a night to one old hungry coyote. Whenever the warden came out, she would start feeling sorry for the coyote and asked the warden not to shoot it. Finally she had five sheep left. She called the warden and once again told him she wasn't ready to have him hunt down the coyote. The warden looked at the little flock of sheep and said, Mrs. Jones, whatever you say, but we've only got five more days anyway. As you read this book there will be tears and sunshine. The good news is you don't have to sit down and read it all at once. Life Really Is Like That.
