Honor and Vengeance James Wollrab,2006-04 On the table before him spread an embroidered cloth bearing images he had seen before. There was a fire burning at the center, its flames reaching toward the sky. Dancing about the fire were three winged beasts representing Life and Time and Fate. As he studied the figures, they began moving back and forth in rhythm to some unheard musical beat. The beasts seemed to mesmerize him as he tried to glance at his watch, but Stephen couldn't see the hands or the dial. He wasn't even sure his watch was with him. Suddenly, the room became too dark to see anything except the glowing eyes of the old woman and the objects on the table before him. Nevertheless, he sensed that the waiting was finally over. The old woman's arm reached out ever so slowly, and her hand pushed the deck of cards toward him. Without a word, she then withdrew her arm back under the shawl. The fact that no words were spoken did not seem unusual to him. There obviously was no need for words.

Jane Vows Vengeance Michael Thomas Ford,2012-02-28 How will Jane Austen break the news to her fiancé that she's not only undead, but also a two-hundred-plus-year-old literary icon? In sleepy upstate New York, Jane's wedding preparations have taken on a bloodsucking intensity. So when Walter suggests they ditch it all and combine their marriage and honeymoon with a house tour of Europe, Jane jumps at the chance to flee Lord Byron and the lingering threat of Charlotte Brontë. But to Jane's chagrin, more than one secret from her past is about to resurface. From an Agatha Christie-style murder mystery to a wedding interrupted by the ghosts of the Princes in the Tower to a shocking revelation about Walter's mother, nothing about this trip is less than pure mayhem. And when a chance encounter puts Jane on the trail of a legendary device reputed to restore a vampire's human soul, will our beloved heroine finally be able to vow her love and devotion—or will a vampire hunter's vengeance drive a stake through her eternal life?

Lady Vengeance Katherine Bone, 2024-08-13 The Lady in Red Trouble has come to the village of Kingston. A young nobleman has been murdered, and there are reports of a red-cloaked woman stalking the vicinity armed with a bow and arrow. It's something that Myles Rutland, Duke of Beresford, didn't anticipate he'd encounter on returning to his country seat for the first time in years. When his faithful butler is also killed, Myles vows to put an end to this lawlessness, including discovering the identity of the red-clad female who casts her shadow over the parish. Lady Lora Putney still grieves the cruel death of her older brother. Her best friend and her father's heir is gone, throwing her family into disarray, as it seems Samuel Hawkesbury, her hateful cousin, is set to inherit Winterbourne and will expect her hand in marriage. The arrival of the Duke of Beresford at his neighboring estate is another unwelcome development. Lora will never forget how she lost her heart to Myles only to be cut by him at a Society ball. But no matter. All she cares about now is finding the man who so callously shot Nicholas and delivering her own brand of justice...

The Passions of Law Susan Bandes, 2000 Scholars of law, theology, political science, and philosophy evaluate the role of emotion in the practice and conception of law and justice. Exploring the part that emotions such as disgust, shame, remorse, the desire for revenge, and love, all play in legal settings, the authors debate the ways that emotion should or should not be used in the decision making processes of judges, lawyers, and juries, and explore the possibility of an emotional hierarchy, and ways to evaluate emotion in sensational cases, such as death sentencing and hate crimes. Evolutionary Forensic Psychology Joshua Duntley, Todd K. Shackelford, 2008-08-20 The field of forensic psychology explores the intersection of psychology and the law. The purpose of this book is to examine topics in the field using the powerful, multidisciplinary, conceptually integrated approach that the natural sciences have embraced for decades with great success. Darwin's theory of evolution by natural selection is the meta-theoretical framework that unifies the field of biology. It unites research and understanding of the development, control, and organization of behavior. The study of humans, which includes all of the social sciences, is part of the field of biology. Darwin's theory provides a powerful meta-theoretical framework that can unify and energize forensic psychology, just as it has the biological sciences. Evolutionary processes undoubtedly shaped physiological characteristics to help solve problems of survival and reproduction. The lungs, for example, with their vast surface area and moist membranes are marvelous adaptations for extracting oxygen and releasing carbon dioxide. Natural selection is the only known process capable of shaping complex functional mechanisms. Just as it shaped physiological adaptations with specific problem-solving functions, it also shaped our thoughts and emotions to guide behaviors toward solving recurrent problems of survival and reproduction. With this logic, we can use knowledge of ancestral problems to guide our understanding of how the mind works. Evolutionary Forensic Psychology is a necessary step toward a unified and complete understanding of psychology and the law. It recognizes that crimes such as murder, non-lethal violence, rape, and theft are manifestations of evolutionarily recurrent selection when they gave individuals an advantage in competition for resources. Each of the chapters that comprise this volume has been selected to provide the first unified examination of important research contributions and future directions of Evolutionary Forensic Psychology.

Leaving Lisa Michael McMullen, 2025-07-18 I didn't know why I was awake and out on the town. Out on the town? Come on! I was in a diner two blocks from my home at 2:30 on a Sunday morning. If that was my new night on the town, I had sunk to a despairingly low degree of life vitality and social interaction. Truth be told, I was feeling disconnected from the real world of personal relationships and engagement with others, especially meaningful others. I had gone to bed but I felt restless, so I got up, got dressed, and wandered down to GoHo's. I didn't wander there aimlessly.... GoHo's diner is a happening place. But it really revs up after eleven when people come there to people watch, or to enjoy the late-at-night, been-drinking, tummy-is-growling, "growl chow," or just to engage in a battle of wits with the sardonic, acid-tongued head waitress. One night, Guy, a business executive who's recently been blindsided by the abrupt departure of his rabidly ambitious wife, is quietly savoring GoHo's meatloaf special. On an earlier sojourn to Goho's he witnessed the cusp of the break-up of a glamorous power couple: Lisa, an emotionally damaged local media celebrity trying to reclaim her musical career, and Mackin, a former CFL All Star with a big secret. Providing context and savagely funny commentary to Guy's observations is Mo, the head waitress, a single-mother who's had to put her ambitions aside to care for the child she had as a teenage mother and the younger sister she rescued from their abusive background. Wittily expressed from all four of their perspectives, Leaving Lisa follows the over-lapping stories of these four habitués of GoHo's as they face major turning points in their lives, each one leaving something behind to gain a new, as yet murky, future. Their increasingly entwined journeys will open up wildly different horizons than those that confronted them at the beginning, and none of them will ever be the same again. With wickedly sharp dialogue; sizzingly sexy encounters; deep emotional insight; sharply defined characters; and a beating heart underscoring it all, Leaving Lisa explores dark emotional issues by way of a clever comedic touch.

What is the Problem with Revenge Andrew Baker, Seline E.M. Doran, Mary Ann O'Grady, 2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Inter-Disciplinary Press in 2013. This multidisciplinary book furthers the debate on the much-contested concept of revenge. It offers a combination of conceptual arguments, and historical, fictional and socio-cultural examples of revenge. What is revenge? Is it a deliciously sweet and non-fattening affair, as Alfred Hitchcock suggested? Or is it, as John Ford argued, an all-consuming affair, inevitably proving more damaging to the avenger? Herein lies the focus of this book: it explores the puzzling, conflicting and intricate nature of revenge. Welcome to the conundrum. With sixteen multidisciplinary chapters, this book tries to disentangle this puzzlement. The first section of this book explores the philosophical dimensions, including notions of the self and the linking of 'punishment' and 'revenge.' The second section offers historical perspectives on revenge, from nation states in conflict situations to the internal battles of an ancient royal family. The third section investigates socio-cultural examples of revenge, consisting of ethnographic accounts of cultures and examinations of mass killings. Finally, the fourth-and largest-section examines the 'storytelling' of revenge, ranging from classical literature depictions to contemporary televisual narratives

Revenge Salman Akhtar, Henri Parens, 2013-11-21 Revenge: Narcissistic Injury, Rage, and Retaliation addresses the ubiquitous human wish to take revenge and settle scores. Featuring the contributions of eleven distinguished mental health professionals, it offers a panoramic and yet deep perspective on the real or imagined narcissistic injury that often underlies fantasies of revenge and the behavioral trait of vindictiveness. It describes various types of revenge and introduces the concept of a 'good-enough revenge.' Deftly blending psychoanalysis, ethology, religious studies, literary criticism, and clinical experience, the book goes a long way to enhance empathy with patients struggling with hurt, pain, and desires to get even with their tormentors. This volume is of great clinical value indeed!

Revenge of the Pastors' Wives Monolesia G. Williams, Byron E. Williams, 2008-09 Revenge of the Pastors' Wives By Monolesia Graves Williams Pastor Byron E. Williams, Sr., Co-Author Gail McGregor has been married to a pastor long enough to know all about the foibles and fantasies surrounding the unofficial title of First Lady. The expectations of being a pastor's wife were too high; the rewards, too low. During her marriage to a pastor, she has experienced tears and tragedies, unfulfilled days and lonely nights, doctors' visits, tranquilizers and even a nervous breakdown. All the problems involved with being married to a man of God have driven her to wit's end. Having already sought out every avenue she knows to find understanding, genuine acceptance and love, she now devises her own form of coping--revenge. Having secured a few comrades, she embarks on a vengeful journey that leads to the most unlikely places... She soon discovers that although revenge is a dish best served cold, true vengeance should be left in much larger Hands than her own. Thanks to contributing writer Blessing Williams, daughter of the authors Monolesia Williams, married to Pastor Byron Williams, has been a pastor's wife for fifteen years. She grew up in Brenham, Texas. Monolesia was pronounced Urban Spotlight International winner by the Gospel Music Association in August 2001 at Estes Park, Colorado. She received an associate's degree from Tulsa Community College and a BA degree in speech communications from Northeastern State University. She serves as music director for First UME Church of Newburgh New York. A native of Longview, Texas, Byron Williams has been in ministry over forty years. He has pastored thirty-five years. He received his BA in religion from East Texas Baptist University in Marshall, Texas, and an MTS from Phillips Seminary in Tulsa, Oklahoma. He serves as pastor of Baptist Temple Church of Newburgh, New York.

The Marital Knot Shabnamzehra Bhojani, 2017-10-10 What binds people together in marriage? The Marital Knot examines the differences between arranged marriages and love marriage and explores the ties that bind. It shares the story of one of Dr. Shabnamzehra Bhojani's patients, Sarah, who enters into an arranged marriage after arriving in the US. Using Sarah's story and her own experience with an arranged marriage as a catalyst, Dr. Bhojani compares arranged marriages to love marriages. She presents a study of commitment, hate, anger, revenge, empathy, forgiveness, and mourning, including clinical examples every step of the way. The Marital Knot concludes with a discussion of empathy, forgiveness, and mourning: the necessary elements for maintaining commitment and repairing betrayals.
