Both sentences are grammatically correct and can be used. But then again, it depends on where you are using it. You are doing great. This sentence uses present continuous tense. It represents an action that is happening now and might continue in the near future. You have been doing great. between them? Sep 22, 2017 · There is no difference. You are is normally contracted to you're in speech, because English doesn't like two vowels without a consonant to separate them, and one of them gets deleted.
